WHY FOAMING SOAP?

More bubbles for the buck

When formulating our Tiles foaming soaps, the team were happy to find that 300ml lasted about 2.5 times longer than our usual liquid soaps, which makes them great for personal use, both for hand washing and showering.

Less packaging waste

With more washes per bottle, foaming soap requires less plastic packaging per wash.

Less water used

Many studies have found that people use less water when washing their hands with foaming soap, compared to liquid soap, especially when hands are not wet prior to lathering. The rinse is perceived as being easier and faster with foaming soap.

Faster biodegradability

Foaming soaps typically biodegrade faster than traditional liquid soaps, partly due to the forced air that causes natural lathering. As a result, less soap ends up down the drain per use, which is better for the environment.

...It feels amazing (so people are more likely to use it)

While some people consider a good, rich foaming soap more luxurious, others may be drawn to the lather, but mostly everyone loves the magic that seems to happen when you press the pump. The more people enjoy the product, the more likely they are to incorporate it into their daily routines, which theoretically increases hand washing compliance rates, which may be one of the reasons why foaming soap is set to be the standard in many high-traffic areas.
